

Past Event

JASNA – NY cordially invites you to celebrate
Jane Austen's 232nd birthday

Saturday December 15th, 1:30pm
The General Society Library 20 West 44th Street
Champagne toast and refreshments

Celebrate Jane Austen on Stage

Lynn Marie Macy will talk about adapting Northanger Abbey for her play in which scenes from The Mysteries of Udolpho and Northanger Abbey are ingeniously and entertainingly interwoven. Actors will read selected scenes to illustrate her talking points.

Lindsay Baker and Amanda Jacobs will discuss transforming Pride & Prejudice into a musical that Daily News critic Howard Kissel has called “civilized and exhilarating.” Songs from their show will be performed to illuminate their talk.

Reserve today for this enchanting afternoon!

See you there

jasnaNY@yahoo.com for more information

Nili Olaz Jerry Vetawich

CELEBRATE JANE AUSTEN ON STAGE

Adapting Jane Austen's prose for the stage and screen is now a thriving cottage industry. Dramatizations of Pride and Prejudice and Emma are particularly abundant, some remarkable, some disappointing.

We searched out our favorite contemporary productions of Northanger Abbey and Pride and Prejudice and invited their creators to describe their creative processes and share with us samples of their enchanting works. Come hear them at the December meeting.

clip here>>>=====

Name: (Ms. Miss. Mrs. Mr.) _____

Address: _____

Telephone: _____ Email: _____

Please reserve ___ places for the December 15th meeting @ $30 each = $ _____

I wish to make a-tax deductible donation to JASNA-NY (THANK YOU!) $ _____
(Don't forget matching funds.)

TOTAL enclosed (make check payable to JASNA-NY) $ _____

Mail your reservation coupon and check to our Treasurer:

Diane Mangasarian
170 West End Avenue Apt #21E New York, N.Y. 10023